

Pegasus 57, the 2014 edition of the University of Exeter's Departmental Journal in Classics and Ancient History is now available for pre-order!

This year's edition includes:

- ◆ Dr Gaëlle Coqueugniot on "The Agora of Europos-Doura (Syria): an Archival and Archaeological Reappraisal."
- ◆ Dr David Leith on "Alexandrian Disputes on Dissection and Vivisection."
- ◆ Christian Djurslev on "The Dragon Myth and Alexander the Great: The Case of the Serpent Sire and the Dragon in India."
- ◆ Andrew Worley on "The Curio Incident of the Camp in the Night-time and Other Acclamations."
- ◆ Professor Chris Gill's Reflections of Exeter.
- ◆ Reviews of recent publications from the department.
- ◆ The winning entry of the Lawrence Shenfield Prize 2014.
- ◆ Poetry, prose, translation, and artwork submitted by students in the department.
- ◆ Departmental, Postgraduate, Staff, and Undergraduate News.
- ◆ Tributes for previous members of the department.
- ◆ And much more...

Buy your 50th anniversary copy of Pegasus now, or at the journal's launch at the start of May. Copies can be collected at the journal's launch, in person from the departmental office in the Amory building, or via post.

Enquiries should be sent to pegasus@ex.ac.uk.

Buy the journal for £5 (£3 for current students) + Postage & Packaging

Buy a 5-year subscription for £25 (includes P&P).

NEW OFFER! Final Year students can purchase a 5-year subscription for £20!
